

SALE OF PROPERTY ORDERED BY COURT

Stay of Thirty Days Is Granted in Order That Appeal Might Be Taken.

MONTH'S BIRTHS AND DEATHS

Negro Wanted in Norfolk, After Long Search, Caught in Petersburg.

Times-Dispatch Bureau, 105 North Sycamore Street, Petersburg, Va., September 28.

Before Judge Mullen, of the Hustings Court, today, the suit of the Centre Hill Corporation against the trustees and the American Bank and Trust Company, involving the sale of twenty-nine desirable residential lots of the Centre Hill property, came up for hearing. The case came up, on a rule against the Centre Hill Corporation to show cause why the private offer of $37,000 for the property by the American Bank and Trust Company, as asked for by the trustees, should not be accepted. The court overruled all exceptions and motions on the part of the Centre Hill Corporation as to the matter, and decreed that the $37,000 offer of the American Bank Company be accepted. To this decree Colonel James Mann, attorney for the corporation, excepted, and gave notice that he would apply to the Supreme Court for an appeal. Judge Mullen granted a stay of thirty days to enable him to do so, and fixed the bond at $2,000.

Mortality and Birth Record.

The September report of the Health Department shows the interesting facts that the mortality was less than the average for the corresponding month of the last two years; that the number of deaths among the white race was the smallest of any corresponding month in five years; that there were only twenty-one deaths of children under five years old, sixteen of whom were colored; that only six cases of typhoid fever were registered, as against seventeen in August and eighteen last September, and that only two cases were registered, as against thirty-two last September.

The total number of deaths during the month was fifty-two whites, 15 colored. Diseases of the digestive system caused eleven deaths; typhoid fever, 2; tuberculosis, 3; Bright's disease, 2. Twelve persons died between the ages of forty and sixty years and seven between the ages of sixty and eighty years.

The report of births in the city during September, believed to be incomplete, shows a total of fifty-one whites, 25 colored, 26. There was a remarkable preponderance of females.

Why! He's Baldheaded

Yes! Hundreds of Thousands of Men are Baldheaded. Many at 35 and 40.

But most baldheads are not to blame; they never heard until too late of PARISIAN SAGE, the delightful hair preparation that kills dandruff germs, eradicates dandruff, stops hair from falling and prevents baldness.

Save your hair now while you have hair to save. Tragle Drug Co. guarantees PARISIAN SAGE for dandruff, falling hair, itching scalp and to put life and lustre into faded hair. Fifty cents at Tragle Drug Co. and druggists everywhere. The girl with the Auburn hair is on every bottle.

League Meeting On.

The call for a meeting of the directors of the Virginia League, to be held in this city next Monday, has been received, and the meeting will be held at the Stratford Hotel on November 6, as originally agreed and announced. The indications are, says a prominent baseball man, that that meeting will be a "love feast" and that C. R. Williams will be re-elected president.

Arrested After Long Search.

On April 30 last Chief of Police Ragland received a request from Chief Kiser, of Norfolk, to look out for and arrest one Moses Johnson, a negro, wanted in that city for running over and fatally injuring a white woman. Johnson, who is known in Petersburg under another name, was arrested here this morning and is held for the Norfolk authorities. He has been keeping under cover ever since the occurrence.

Jury Disagreed.

The jury in the case of J. B. Hozier, near Hampton, indicted for alleged attempted criminal assault on Mrs. Frances E. Gibson, on July 18, after hearing all the evidence and argument in the case yesterday, failed to agree on a verdict. The jury had the case under consideration for several hours, finally reporting at 9:30 o'clock last night their inability to agree on a verdict. They were discharged, the case continued over to the October term of the court, and Hozier was bailed. The jurors were very much divided in their opinion, some being for a verdict of acquittal, some for a verdict of guilty, and one for a verdict of acquittal. Eleven of the jurors finally stood for conviction for simple assault, with a jail sentence, but the one juror held out for acquittal.

Greater League Rally.

The rally of the Prince George Greater League, to be held at Disputants on Saturday, is expected to be a big affair and will be attended by people from all over the county. An elaborate program has been arranged, which contemplates all day exercises. The Greater Prince George League, organized under the auspices of the Governor, is expected to have for its object the development and advancement of the county in all respects. A number of addresses will be delivered on Saturday by prominent men on subjects of immediate interest. The guest of honor, however, will be Governor Mann, who will speak on the agricultural possibilities of the county, and these are great.

General News Notes.

Jury to Decide.

In the Hustings Court to-morrow a jury will decide the question of fact as to the identity of the thirty-five charges of alleged larceny of the funds of the old Appomattox Trust Company, contained in the "drag net" indictment against Charles Hall Davis and Carter R. Bishop, with the charges under which the defendants have been discharged. On the decision of the jury depends the standing or fall of the big indictment and all charges of larceny.

Postal Bank Opened.

The postal savings bank was opened at the post-office this morning, and the first depositor was a lawyer who was in waiting to get the first certificate of the business. The company, contained in the "drag net" indictment against Charles Hall Davis and Carter R. Bishop, with the charges under which the defendants have been discharged. On the decision of the jury depends the standing or fall of the big indictment and all charges of larceny.

An Old Citizen Returns.

Mark E. Kull, formerly and for many years a well-known citizen of Petersburg, but for twenty-one years a resident of New York, has returned to his old home, and is now residing here. Mr. Kull thinks that he is the only citizen of Petersburg alive who witnessed the execution of John Brown. He was a member of the Petersburg Grays, and went with that company to Harper's Ferry. Mr. Kull served throughout the war in the Twelfth Virginia Regiment, Mahone's Brigade. He has been cordially welcomed back by his old friends.

Fine Painting for St. Joseph's.

When Father O'Farrell, a year ago celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of his pastorate of St. Joseph's Catholic Church, his congregation determined to recognize his services by placing in the church as an evidence of their love and esteem a handsome painting of "The Resurrection." The sum of $500 was subscribed, and the order for the painting was given to Francesco Gaudy, a famous artist of Rome. A letter was received today, stating that the picture had been shipped and would soon arrive in Petersburg.

GREAT REUNION OF OLD SOLDIERS

Largest Gathering Held in Fredericksburg Section in Many Years.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Fredericksburg, Va., September 28.—The great Confederate reunion which the Confederate Veterans and their friends have been looking forward to with such pleasant anticipation for the past six months, was held here today. It was the largest Confederate reunion ever held in this section for many years. The gathering was held around the country, by train, steamboats, vehicles, horseback and on foot.

The parade started from the courthouse at 10 o'clock, headed by a troop of United States cavalry and a big brass band from Washington. Colonel E. D. Cole was chief marshal, Captain M. B. Rowe, first assistant marshal, and Captain D. M. Lee, second assistant marshal, with a number of aides from the surrounding counties. A number of veterans marched on foot. Others who were carried in vehicles.

Arriving at the Fair Grounds the exercises were held on the grandstand. Judge J. T. Gooldick presiding. In addition to the several numbers by the band a cornet solo, rendering "Bonny Blue Flag" and "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground" by selected voices. An address was delivered by Colonel R. E. Lee, of Fairfax. Colonel Lee's address was in a happy vein, recalling many incidents of the war, interspersed with anecdotes and praising the old veterans for their valor and bravery during the war, and expressing for their happy conditions for their advancing years. His address pleased the veterans, and Colonel Lee was heartily applauded from time to time during its delivery.

The exercises closed with the playing of "Dixie" by the band, in which the audience joined with singing. The veterans then repaired to the place on the Fair Grounds, where a splendid dinner had been prepared by the Daughters of the Confederacy and served in fine style in the inclosure where tables had been provided and ample room for all to be seated. The dinner was a good old substantial Virginia repast. It consisted of all the good things of the season, winding up with ice cream. Following the dinner the veterans renewed old acquaintances, formed themselves in congenial groups and visited the various departments of the fair, returning home late this evening highly delighted with the day's enjoyment.

TRUST-BUSTING AS A SUBSTITUTE

Administration Will Use This as Its Trump Card in Campaign.

RECIPROCITY PROVES FLUKE

Something Must Be Done to Make People Forget Party Failures.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

Washington, September 28.—Has the Taft administration, since the defeat of the reciprocity bill by Canada, decided upon a plan of "trust busting" as a substitute for tariff and reciprocity? Far-seeing politicians profess to discover a change of front in the administration which indicates that since reciprocity has failed, the propaganda of an antitrust campaign is to be brought out and used instead.

Whether the change of issues would have been made if Canadian reciprocity had not failed is mooted. Many observers believe that the President has recognized the fact that the tariff in Canada, that the tariff was a bad issue for him, and that he must force some other into a commanding position in order to distract attention. The failure of reciprocity rather accentuated the necessity of this, because a failure in a best poor issue; the sooner forgotten, the better.

No more vigorous expression has been delivered by the President on any live proposition since he went on his present tour. This has been given against changing the Sherman act and in favor of enforcing it. He commended the recent trust decisions, and insisted that the Government has opportunity to work out the details of reorganization procedure for the trusts under it.

Something Big Doing. Something big is doing in the matter of antitrust prosecution. Of this little doubt is entertained in either business or political circles. Something very important and commanding is regarded as certain to be sprung in this department by the President. The trust question is not a new one, but it is being taken up with new vigor, and it is being taken up with new vigor, and it is being taken up with new vigor.

Attorney-General Wickersham has been the least popular officer in the Taft Cabinet, but he also has been the most influential one with the President. Mr. Taft has unbounded confidence in him. He will not retire, despite rumors in connection with the Wiley case. On the contrary, in the matter of the Wiley case, he will be placed the largest responsibility for getting the administration back into the good graces of the country before the next election. This is over a year away, and a good deal can be done in that time, at least in the eyes of demonstrating a vigorous purpose.

Far from being rejected, the Attorney-General is to become the head of the current in the structure of policy and politics from this time forth. It will be a startling change, because the administration has been persistently regarded as amply inclined toward the big business interests.

Why this should have been so is not apparent, for Mr. Wickersham, with the fullest support of his chief, has instituted and pressed more antitrust actions than all his predecessors together. But the suspicion against him persists, especially in the anti-Taft West and Middle West.

To Overcome Prejudice. Mr. Wickersham is to make the big effort to overcome the prejudice to which the confidence of the radical sections, and to rehabilitate the administration in the confidence of the people who have been unwilling to believe it sincere in enforcing the antitrust act.

The mystery about the impending move in this campaign continues dense. It is known that Solicitor-General Lehmann has been expected to resign, and that a sort of report or recommendation of some kind is being made. The matter of the steel corporation, but its contents and even its direction are utterly unknown. So vigorous conclusions have brought positive denial. But there is no doubt that something of this kind is about to develop in this antitrust direction.

However unfortunate he has been in his efforts to command confidence of men who call the Attorney-General has done quite badly with the conservative elements. Wall Street fondly expected that he would be "let" by the Attorney-General. He has not been disappointed. He has been a sorry disappointment to a large number of vigorous and effective prosecutions, public utterances and announcements of policy prove.

Slapped Cigarette Out of Boy's Mouth in Lobby at Murphy's Hotel.

Rural virtue and urban precocity came in contact last night in the lobby of Murphy's Hotel, to the extreme consternation of the representatives of both elements. The situation at the end was no clearer than at the beginning, demonstrating once again the age-old conflict between points of view.

Among the young men gathered in the lobby was one of bucolic countenance and virtuous mien. He was evidently one who lived right, who expected others to do the same, and who was to a certain extent born to set right those things which are so sadly out of joint.

Enter one of the genus new-boy, crying: "Extry! Beattie molder trial books." The kid, who was not more than eight years old, was engaged in the consumption of a cigarette.

The reformer gave one look of surprise and indignation at the boy and the cigarette. With one sweep of his arm he jerked the snipe from between the lips of the boy, cast it on the floor as though it had been a snake, and ground his militant heel into it, muttering criticisms of child vice as he did so.

The astonishment of the youngster was profound. Unable to speak for a moment, he gasped for breath. The idea that any one would interfere with his rights was incomprehensible to him. He looked at the flushed face above him and then down at the minute black spot which marked all that was left of his cigarette.

"What'd yer do that fer?" he queried, faintly.

"Because you had no business with it," retorted the other.

There was nothing more to be said. The kid couldn't fight with one five times his size. He withdrew.

"Aw, all the boys here smoke," expostulated the companion of the virtuous youth.

"Not while I'm around," said he of the reform bent.

"Wet d'ye think that big mutt did to me?" complained the kid to a group of his friends on the walk outside. "Took me cigarette right out of my mouth and throwed it away. He didn't have nothing to do with it." His friends all extended their deepest sympathy and expressed their rage at the treatment given him.

It was all in the point of view.
